2017 for

	name
_	date prepared	-

"Herein lie the business matters of importance to me."

"Urgent things act on us. Urgent matters are usually visible. They press on us; they insist on action. They're often popular with others. They're usually right in front of us. And often they are pleasant, easy, and fun to do. But so often they are unimportant."

"Importance, on the other hand, has to do with results. If something is important, it contributes to your mission, your values, and your high priority goals."

"We react to urgent matter. Important matters that are not urgent require more initiative, more proactivity. We must act to seize opportunity, to make things happen."

Dr. Stephen R. Covey from "The 7 Habits of Highly Effective People"

Purpose

The purpose of this plan is to provide myself	a specific and complete
guideline for the accomplishment of set goals	s for the New Year beginning
January 1, 2017. This plan is my one-year, m	onth-to-month plan designed to achieve a financial goal of
$	_ of personal income in calendar year 2017.

My plan is specific in both the amount of and the type of activities that I will accomplish each week, each month, each quarter for the year. I will monitor myself every thirty days to make sure that I am on target and will alter activities that are not working for me. If necessary, I will seek the assistance of my broker or team members to determine what alterations will be best.

My plan is designed to create growth for me, both financially and mentally. It is within my initiative and my proactivity to make the things happen in my life that will bring the results that I want. Therefore, I am committing my efforts and energies toward the completion of this plan.

4. Please state the one thought, action or idea that has created the most business for you last year.

Take a few minutes to answer the following questions with a "Yes" or "No" answer. Please be honest in your response.

- 1. I probably spend more time planning to prospect than I devote to actually prospecting.
- 2. I'm probably not really trying to prospect for new business as much as I could or should because I'm not sure it's worth the hassle.
- 3. I probably don't try as often as I could to initiate contact with influential people in my community who might be prospects for my service, or at least a source for referrals.
- 4. I get really uncomfortable when I have to phone someone I don't know, who is not expecting my call, to persuade them to buy something they may not want to buy.
- 5. Personally, I think having to call people I don't know, who are not expecting my call to promote a product or service is humiliating and demeaning.
- 6. Self-promotion doesn't really matter to me. I just don't apply myself to it very purposefully or consistently.
- 7. Actually, prospecting doesn't really bother me. I just don't apply myself to it very purposefully or consistently.
- 8. I find myself hesitating when it is time to ask for a referral from an existing client.
- 9. I tend to need time to "psych" myself up before I prospect.
- 10. I tend to spend a lot of time shuffling, planning, prioritizing and organizing the names on my prospecting list (or cards) before I actually put them to use.
- 11. Regularly making cold calls (calling on people I don't know who are not expecting my call and who may not want to talk to me) is really difficult for me.
- 12. I tend to feel uneasy when I prospect because deep down I think that consistently promoting myself and my products is not very respectful or proper.
- 13. To me, making sales presentations to my friends or asking them for referrals is unacceptable because it might look like I was trying to exploit their friendship.
- 14. I often feel like I might be intruding on people when I prospect.

- 15. To me, making sales presentations to members of my own family, or even asking them for referrals, is inappropriate because it might look like I was trying to selfishly exploit them.
- 16. It is very important to me to find innovative, alternative ways to prospect which are more professional and dignified than the methods used by other salespeople.
- 17. I think that prospecting for new business probably takes more out of me emotionally than it does other salespeople.
- 18. I do okay in one-on-one sales situations, but I would probably get really nervous if I found out that next week I had to give a sales presentation in front of a group.
- 19. Highly educated, professional people like lawyers and physicians tend to annoy me, so I don't try to initiate contact with then even though I probably could if I wanted to.
- 20. Self-help material is superficial and probably won't teach me anything I don't already know.
- 21. I have reasonably clear goals, but I probably spend more time talking about them than working toward them.
- 22. I would probably feel more positive about prospecting for new business if I had some additional training to fortify my sales skills.
- 23. I probably could prospect more, but I'm really just marking time until I get to do what I really want to do.

Please take a few moments to circle which of the following stops you from moving to a higher level of production.

- Understanding how to effectively market myself
- Struggling with technology
- Following a schedule
- Tracking your daily numbers
- Fear of rejection
- Overcoming objections

- Personal motivation
- Assistants
- Presentation skills
- Controlling emotions
- Poor prospecting habits
- Lack of time management skills
- Working with too many buyers
- Lack of a competent assistant
- Too many leads
- Cash flow problems
- Too many hours worked
- Qualifying prospects, sellers and buyers
- Too many unqualified appointments
- Too many listings
- Too many assistants/staff turnover
- Lack of management skills
- Too many unfinished projects
- Not following a business plan
- Too many non-dollar productive hours
- Burnout
- Lack of job description
- Finance
- Maintaining a professional and productive attitude
- Delegation
- Too attached to outcomes
- Thinking big enough
- Past clients
- Systematizing the business

From the above list, please indicate which the top three challenges in your business are today:

1._____

2._____

3.____

The number of contacts that I make daily will equal the number of deals I do annually.

Goal of 25 deals a year- minimum for competency

10 hours prospecting per week

125 contacts per week

10 lead per week

5 hours lead follow-up per week

2 sales per month

25 deals per year equal $45,000 in income per year

Average sales price, average income

20 hours prospecting per week

250 contacts per week

20 lead per week

10 hours lead follow-up per week

1 sale per week

50 deals per year equals $

in income per year

Average sales price, average income

$$150,000 \times .03 = 4500 \times .45 = 2,025$$

$2.025 x 50 deals $101,250 paid at closing

2017 Objectives

Business—Here are all the business objectives that I want to accomplish during the 2017 calendar year. I understand that the achievement of any goal is much more likely when the goal is measurable and measurements are taken on a regular basis.

Therefore, I will measure myself on each of these goals frequently enough to ensure their accomplishment.

1.	To earn an income of $_

- 2. To work an average of _____ hours per week of which 75% are highly productive.
- 3. To work a maximum of _____ days per week and take ____ complete weeks off each month.

Breakdown of Hours Worked outside of Prospecting

Outline in as much detail as possible, outside of the prospecting that you're going to do (but still within your regular business day), the specific times you will spend on various other activities. But remember, many of these activities are not considered highly productive activities (those other than Preview, Prospect, List and Sell) and you will want to minimize your time spent in them (or better yet, higher an assistant to do them for you.)

Monthly Business Plan

For each month that you've listed four things to do, you must determine and write out clearly how (the action steps) you will proceed to accomplish each item. In some instances you may also need to list other people or resources that will be necessary to accomplish the item. Use one page for each item, similar to the outline shown below:

The final step comes when you take these individual action steps and incorporate them into your calendar so that on a day-by-day basis you are doing the things that will lead you to complete the 48 most important accomplishments for 2017 in addition to your regular day-in, day-out activities.

YOUR PLAN IS NOW COMPLETE!!

Purpose of my goals

On the previous pages are my goals for the year. I have taken the time to analyze my accomplishments during the past year. I have outlined my objectives for the year with work habits and daily dollar productive activities that will help me achieve my goals.

My goals will be constantly monitored to ensure they are being met and to make adjustments as needed.

My signature below is my personal commitment to meeting the goals that I have set for myself for the year.
